Down They Go.

Meaning the prices of job printing. The following low rates will hereafter rule at the BULLETIN Job Printing Rooms. They are the lowest ever offered in this city by any printing establishment. The reduction does not mean careless printing and inferior stock, but on the contrary first-class press-work and composition and the best quality of paper:

Bill Heads per ream.....	$5 00
Two Reams.....	9 00
Letter Heads per ream.....	4 50
Packet Note Heads per ream.....	3 00
Commercial Note Heads per ream.....	2 75
Envelopes per thousand.....	3 00
Visiting Cards fifty.....	25c

And other printing at proportionately low prices. Rosser & McCarthy.

The Absurdities of Fashion.

Old Mr. Thistlepod climbed up the broad stairway of marble and rosewood leading to the high-backed, Queen-Anne editorial rooms of The Hawkeye, yesterday morning. His heavy tread fell noiselessly upon the Pompadour velvet carpets, and as he sank into a costly es-critoire the perfumed light fell through the stained glass tant mieux at the facade of the managing editor's chranlement de cuir, touched the old man's face with a softened overmoulou, that seemed like an echo from the stately renaissance that looked down upon the walls. Carefully moving the elegant Louis Quinze passe-partout where the old man could not tip it over with his feet, if after his usual habit he should choose to rest them on the carved mauvais sujet, the editor asked the honest tiller of the soil how was crops in the Flint River country.

"Crops?" echoed the old man. "Well now I want to tell you about crops. Corn's all right, an' oats was better'n usual an' wheat just boomed, but you've got a crop of fools in Burlington that'll just lay over any other green thing that ever drewed the cows in the State of Iowa.

"Why, the town's full of 'em," shouted Mr. Thistlepod, who labors under the impression that he can't be heard unless he talks very loud.

"How can you tell they're fools?" asked the society editor.

"By their clothes," waved the old man, and the society editor slid as far as he could under the table and then laid his face flat on his arm in order to write more easily. "By their clothes," repeated the sturdy old agriculturist. "Y gaul, if a boy of mine 'uz to dress like the young fellers I see in this town, I'd beat some sense into him with a neck-yoke. Why it's redik'lus; I tell ye, it's redik'lus. I see a young chap down in the countin'-room with a pair o' trousers on him tighter'n candle molds—I hope to die 'f I didn't think he'd stuck his laigs into a couple o' snake skins. 'N' his coat—by jockies, it wasn't hardly long enough to cover his suspenders; it wasn't, I swanny. 'N' it fit him closter than his undershirt, and his shirt-collar sawed his years every time he turned his head, 'n' he wore his watch chain outside his coat. An' he wore a flat hat, with a round top, about as big as a cooky. An' his shoes! 'P'inted, do ye know, 'p'inted like toothpicks, 'n' they was long as pickaxes. To see him skipin' around in that git up, lookin' more like a monkey nor a white man, 'y gaul, it made me mad, 'n' I swan I wanted to lick him. I declare I did. They's no sense in a Christian man makin' such an outlandish spectacle of himself, an' if I ever ketch my boy dressed up in any such a dog-goned redik'lus, absurd, disgustin' fashion, I'll be gaul swizzled if I—hello, Jasper, are ye waitin' for me?"

And saying good-by, Mr. Thistlepod accompanied his son down stairs to the wagon. As the old man turned to go, he did not in the least degree resemble the "young feller" down in the counting-room. The big felt hat he wore had originally been of some color, but that was years ago. The blue merino band sewed on with black thread was too loose, and a twine string tied tightly around it caused the hat to bulge out above the band like the dome of a mosque. The hickory shirt fastened at the collar in severe simplicity with a big horn button, sported a collar of any kind. The roony brown vest had four white bone buttons and a black shawl pin, and through the irregular reticulations of its much scarred back the solitary suspender showed through, resolutely clinging to a button off and a nail forward. The baggy blue trousers swelled out below the flapping vest into an ample dome, strangely creased and fearfully wrinkled, breaking, as the old man walked, into awful billowy bulges and humps, while one long, deep, diagonal crease showed where the trusty suspender, hauled taut from port to starboard, held everything fast on the quarter. Further down they bagged in great curving billows at the knees and wrinkled behind; they were brief, and came to an untimely end about four inches before they reached the top of the shoe, and they ended abruptly; same size all the way down and sawed square off across the ends. The shoes were not exactly pointed at the toes, and when the old man's feet were not in them you could't bet which way the shoes were pointed. Jasper was attired in like manner as his father, only being a much taller man his trousers were correspondingly shorter. As they passed through the æsthetic decorations of the counting-room, the man in the lean pants laughed sneeringly, and Mr. Thistlepod laughed tauntingly. The managing editor sank back in his ermine cushioned fleur de terre.

"I am afraid," he sighed, wearily, "those two people are laughing at each other's clothes."—Burlington Hawkeye.

A Curious Fire-Ball.

At about ten minutes before twelve o'clock last night the people of "lower town" were disturbed by a most terrific report (which was heard throughout the greater portion of the city), accompanied with a bright, sulphuric light which illuminated the entire surroundings for quite a space of time. Many people sprang from their beds, supposing that a severe thunder-storm had burst upon them; others thought that a boiler had exploded; and not a few attributed the deafening report to the first crash of "the wreck of matter and the crush of worlds;" but upon rushing to their doors and windows beheld one of the most calm and beautiful moonlight nights ever witnessed. The mystery was, however, soon solved by the statement of certain persons employed in and about the mills in that part of the city. They say that a large ball of fire fell into Muskegon Lake, seemingly striking its surface 300 or 400 feet from the shore. A young gentleman known as James Fisk felt the shock perceptibly, and Mr. Archibald Lee was "shaken up" by it. Both of these parties were on Western avenue at the time. Messrs. Frank Johnson, Levi Beardsley, Charles C. Moulton and Fred Miller, all of whom lodge on Western avenue, state that the building in which they have rooms was shaken by the explosion. Mr. Hugh Leonard, who had just retired to his room on Western avenue, states as follows: "I saw the glare, and it seemed as though the entire light was concentrated in my room. At first it appeared as though my window curtains were wrapped in flames." Where the aerolite struck the water there was great commotion, "as though a ton of solid substance had fallen into it from a great height." It is currently believed that a great meteoric stone fell, and it may be well for steamers and sailing vessels to be guarded for the present while passing the point where the stone is supposed to have struck. This is represented as being from three hundred to four hundred feet from the shore that lines the lake between White & Swan's and the "Bedder" mills. There was not the least sign of a cloud in the sky at the time, the night being one of the most brilliant remembered. Small boats will prospect near the spot where the stone is supposed to have struck the surface of the water. This meteorological phenomenon is now talk in Maysville, particularly among the inhabitants of "lower town."—Muskegon (Mich.) Chronicle.

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

FRIDAY EVENING, NOV. 10, 1882.

TERMS:—The EVENING BULLETIN is published daily, and served free of postage at 6 cents per week; 25 cents per month; 75 cents per three months; $1.50 per six months, and $3 per year, payable in advance.

THE EVENING BULLETIN HAS A LARGER CIRCULATION IN THIS CITY, CHESTER AND ABERDEEN, OHIO, THAN ANY OTHER PAPER PUBLISHED IN MAYSVILLE.

KENTUCKY has 208 newspapers.

CALIFORNIA received 4,155 immigrants during October.

FREEDOM did not shriek very loudly when Stalwartism fell.

BLACKBURN carried every county in his district by good majorities.

THAT one Republican in the Kentucky delegation, if he gets his seat, will feel awful lonesome in the 48th congress.

THE majority in New York continues to climb up. It has now reached 190,000, with a probability of going still higher.

THE latest returns show that the next house of representatives will have 186 Democratic and 134 Republican members.

How does this ticket strike you? For President, Gov. Cleveland, of New York; for Vice President, Senator McDonald, of Indiana.

UNITED STATES securities held their own in Wall street when the "grand old party" went to grass last Tuesday. It is exceedingly strange.

CULBERTSON's majority in Lewis county is about 550. Judge Thomas was there and another distinguished visitor beside Hubbell's money.

HON. MATT ADAMS is probably elected to congress over John D. White. The Kentucky delegation will stand, ten Democrats and one Republican.

THE column of Democratic States has been reinforced by Michigan, Colorado, Nevada, California and Kansas, and others still may be found when a careful look is taken.

DIAMONDS pay a tariff of 10 per cent. or 25 per cent. when set in gold, while blankets pay from 70 to 100 per cent. Poor people buy blankets; rich people buy diamonds. Why is this discrimination in favor of the rich?

ONE of the intensely gratifying results of the recent election is the retiring to private life of one of the "Grand old party's" grandest thieves—Secor Robeson of New Jersey. This most notorious of all public robbers was defeated by a decisive majority.

GENERAL SHERMAN, whom Bob Ingersoll nominates for President in 1884, says that the fear of exceeding the limit of 25,000 men in the army in these prosperous times, has left the army behind what the honor or necessity of the country demands and he advises a change of the limit to 30,000. Straws tell which way the wind blows.

THE Washington correspondent of the Enquirer writes: Of all the curious rumors drifting, the most startling is that from henceforward Arthur will use the Presidential office for all it is worth. His policy thus far has been shaped with an eye single to consolidate the Half-Breeds. Now he is to punish. He has made nothing by conciliation, and driven off friends. A Stalwart, the gossips have it, will succeed Robertson, the New York Collector, and the Cabinet is to be reorganized for aggressiveness rather than respectability.

THE Western Tobacco Journal says: Since the advent of cool weather house burn and pole rot has been checked, and with this kind of weather for a short time longer, the crop of White Burley and Seed Leaf (these being the only varieties which have been effected any way seriously by these diseases) will be so advanced that no further damage than was inflicted at the beginning of the curing season need be apprehended. For a time indications were that the crop would be badly damaged from these causes, but happily favorable weather and precautions taken by panthers have "turned the tables." The outlook, therefore, is bright for the whole tobacco trade, and while prices may rule more favorably for manufacturers than they have in the past, yet we think that the increased production and improved quality will fully compensate growers for any decline from present ruling rates.

CAPT. Culbertson lives at Ashland. His agents there, and in that neighborhood took advantage of the bitter feeling of the people over the action of the state troops in resisting an attack by the mob, and intensifying it by every means, used it with effect against the Democratic candidate. This accounts for Culbertson's large vote in the mountain counties. Elsewhere the over confidence of the Democrats, and the use by the Republicans of a large amount of corruption money in every precinct of each county, overcame the usual Democratic majorities. A harder fight was made and more corrupt means was resorted to here by the Republicans to secure victory than in any other district in the state, and it is the only one in the commonwealth where they have been successful.

THE Louisville Commercial admits the rascality of its party, backs down and, in the hope of saving the grand old organization from utter destruction, proposes to turn over a new leaf. Here is what it says.

The success of the campaign of 1884 is the hands of the present Republican majority in the National House of Representatives. What that body should do is to take the tax off tobacco, check stamps, proprietary stamps and bank deposits, and extend the bonded period for whiskey, make some necessary improvements in the tariff, to make it consistent throughout and reduce expenditure with an unsparring hand. It is an imposition on the people to keep paying the debt off at the rate of fifteen millions a month, and the revenues now applied to that should be cut off. If these things are done nothing will be left for the Democratic majority in the next House but to make fools of themselves, as Mr. Hendricks confesses they are most likely to do.

THE property of the Kentucky Central railroad in Bourbon county is assessed at $555,750. Of this $28,945 is in Paris.

Owensboro Messenger: A grey eagle was winged and caught on the farm of Sam Lanham a few days ago. It was brought to town exhibited on the streets, attracting considerable attention. It measured six feet and two inches from tip to tip.

The pins used in this country are made by fourteen factories, chiefly located in New England. The annual production for several years past has been about 7,000,000,000 pins. This number has not varied much for some years, the demand remaining about the same. Two years ago the competition among the nine principal companies then existing for the manufacture of toilet pins led to such a cutting of prices that the business became unprofitable, and the market was flooded with goods. A year ago a combination was formed of three wire companies and now all the pins made by them are shipped to New York, and handled by the head agency of that city. From their common warehouses they are sent to every part of the country. Importation of English pins is small, and exportations of pins from the United States are confined to Cuba, South America, and parts of Canada. England supplies almost the whole world outside of the United States, although the American pins are not inferior in quality. The raw material—the brass and iron wire from which all American pins are made—is from the wire-mills of the country, and much of the machinery is of American invention and patent.

ROOF PAINTING.

A Few Plain Facts in Regard to TIN and IRON ROOFS.

Preserve your roofs by having a coat of

ARMSTRONG'S

ELASTIC ROOF PAINT

Applied on them. After ten years test in different cities in the state of Kentucky, Armstrong's Elastic Roof Paint is acknowledged superior to any other in use. It forms a heavy elastic body smooth and glossy; it will not crack or scale, dries quickly and will remain without repainting from 8 to 10 years. This paint will stop all leaks in tin or iron roofs and remain so for many years. It has been applied to many of the best buildings, both public and private, in this state, of which I have testimonials to show from gentlemen whose standing in society and business qualifications makes their opinion and knowledge of its worth, after having tried it for years on their roofs, which of itself is the best of guarantees of its useful and valuable worth to all who have or metal roofs. If you have a leaky or a worn out roof that has decayed from neglect of being properly covered with paint, and it leaks and your tinner has failed to stop the leaks, give me a trial, and if I do not stop the leaks entirely there will be no charge made.

I will remain in this city a few days with the view of introducing my Elastic Paint, of which I am the inventor and manufacturer and sole owner. I manufacture but the two kinds, the Black Elastic and the Elastic Brown. Neither of these paint contain any linseed oil in their composition, and both being fire proof when applied on shingles or wood. The Black Elastic can stand more intense heat than any other paint made or known in this country, and is calculated for tin or iron roofs. n2tf

ROSSER & MCCARTHY,
PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

IN looking o'er the battle field,
It plain appears to us,
That with the "grand old party" now,
Things hardly could be "wuss,"
And to disinterested ones,
The outcome of the strife,
Is that the Reds must pack their "grips,"
And slink to private life.

REV. J. T. HENDRICK, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Flemingsburg, is emphatically a prohibitionist. He says: "I will not administer the communion to a man who will make or sell whisky, or receive money from him as part of my salary, because I consider it the price of blood."

DOMESTIC animals, it is stated, are just as liable to breed disease among human beings as they are among their own kind. There are well-authenticated cases of the germs of diphtheria being conveyed in the hair of cats. Horses afflicted with glanders readily transmit it to man. Domestic animals in many cases, are the unsuspecting transmitters of contagious disease.

THE Western Tobacco Journal gives this advice: Planters with good crops of 1881 still on hand had better think seriously of selling it before the new crop begins to be marketed. Good tobacco is comparatively scarce, and is needed to supply immediate wants. In a few months the excellent crop of the present year will begin to arrive and then lower figures are inevitable.

PROF. VENNOR predicts the following: November—May bring a return of open and calmer weather in its fore portions, but the latter portion of that month promises to be again stormy and very cold in the northwest and portions of the northwestern sections of both Canada and the United States by the close of the month and entry of December. December, it is my opinion from the present standpoint that the month will give an unusual amount of precipitation (rain and snow.) Snow in the northern, and northwestern sections, and heavy rain and sleet storms on the southern divisions of the United States. After the 20th of this month as far southward as the northern portions of the southern Atlantic division (Delaware and Maryland.)

Bracken Chronicle: Last week while Mr. H. V. Morris, of the Chronicle Publishing Company, was engaged with a job on our largest job press, accidentally caught his fore finger in one of the cogs, mashing it off at the first joint. Dr. Bayless dressed the wound and will endeavor to save it without amputation. Mr. M. will be disabled from work for some weeks by the unfortunate accident.

NEWS BREVITIES.

A London financial paper says the demand for Confederate bonds has increased.

The First National Bank of Sandusky has changed its name to the Moss National Bank.

THE New Hampshire Republicans elected Hale their governor by a majority of from 250 to 300.

Wall street was but little disturbed by Tuesday's elections, the effect of which had long been discounted.

The Underwriters' Wrecking Company, of Cincinnati, and Rice & Donovan, dry goods merchants, have made assignments.

Anthony Trollope's condition is considered critical, as he has suffered an attack of aphasia. His friends are very anxious.

The Cincinnati Exposition Commissioners report a net profit of $16,743 40 over all expenses as a result of the recent Exposition.

A building containing about six tons of powder, at Windsor Mills, Quebec, exploded Wednesday, killing Mrs. Randall, the only employee of the building.

Enthusiastic friends of Ben. Butler have erected a new broom on the cupola of his mansion, opposite the Capitol, in honor of his election as Governor of Massachusetts.

A colliery explosion occurred at Clay cross Mines, Derbyshire. It is known that thirty persons were killed. Four of the managers of the mines were blown to atoms.

Mr. W. W. Corcoran, of Washington, proposes to remove the bones of John Howard Payne, the author of "Home Sweet Home," from their lonely grave in Tunis to a tomb in this country.

The Garfield Claims Commission has received a bill for $1,166 from proprietor Jones, of the Elberon Hotel, Elberon, N. J., for the entertainment of President Garfield's party during the summer of 1881.

Henry Heisel was murdered by burglars, on Monday night, at his house at West Chester, Butler county, Ohio. His wife was chloroformed and brutally beaten. The murdered man was sixty-three years old.

The Kentucky distillers met at Lexington, Wednesday, and a scale of reduction was agreed upon for the coming season. It was based on the average production of the last two seasons.

The little steamer Reindeer was partly destroyed by fire above Cairo Thursday. She is owned by Capt. Lew Vandergrift, of New Harmony, Ind., and was under charter to the Mississippi River Commission.

Samuel T. Moler is suing in the Hamilton County Common Pleas Court for a third divorce. He became acquainted with his present wife through an advertisement in the personal column of the Enquirer.

In the Washington Police Court Wednesday, the case of Arthur Payne, one of the persons arrested on the charge of attempting to corrupt jurymen in the Star-route trial was sent to the grand jury. In default of $2,0000 bail, Payne was lodged in jail.

MR. GEORGE GINN, an old citizen of Bracken county, died at Brooksville recently.

THE Ashland war has inspired a military spirit throughout the State. A company of forty-five men has been raised at Lawrenceburg; another one is being enrolled at Winchester which thirty unmarried men, all six feet high, have enlisted; and Frankfort is enrolling a battery of artillery.

THE Enquirer says:

The friends of Blaine, or some of them, say that behind the scenes Blaine has pulled the wires which has brought down the Republican tabernacle. The men who are rebuked by the defeat are men who have defeated his presidential nomination in two national conventions. This, no doubt, is a wise deduction in the light of facts; but the men thus rebuked have good memories, and would and could destroy Blaine should he ever be nominated.

The success of Butler in Massachusetts is received with more general satisfaction by the Republicans than any other feature of Tuesday's battle. There has been a good deal of hypocrisy and cant among Massachusetts statesmen which it is thought bluff Ben Butler will unmask. His election means the retirement from public life of Geo. Frisbee Hoar. Rumors that Butler has designs on the presidency as an independent workingman's candidate also find believers; and as nothing is improbable in Butler's political course, he may likewise bid for the Democratic nomination.

Lemons.

The following concise account of the properties and uses of the lemon is taken from an exchange:

The lemon is a native of Asia, although it is cultivated in Italy, Portugal, and in the south of France. In Europe, however, it seldom exceeds the dimensions of the smallest tree, while its native state is to grow over ninety feet in height.

Every part of this tree is valuable in medicine, though we rarely employ any of it but its fruit, that is the lemon itself.

And every one knows how to employ this, as in lemonade: To squeeze the juice into cold water, this is the shortest way, or to cut into slices and let soak in cold water; or to cut into slices and then boil it; either way is good. Lemonade is one of the best and safest drinks for any person, whether in health or out. It is suitable in all stomach diseases, is excellent in sickness—in cases of jaundice, gravel, liver complaint, inflammation of the bowels and fevers.

It is a specific against worms and skin complaints. The pippins crushed may also be used with water and sugar as a drink. Lemon juice is the best anti-scorbutic remedy known. It not only cures the disease, but prevents it. Sailors make a daily use of it for this purpose. A physician suggests rubbing of the gums daily with lemon juice to keep them in a healthy condition.

The hands are kept clean, white, soft and supple by the daily use of lemon instead of soap. It also prevents chilblains. Lemon is used in intermittent fevers, mixed with strong, hot black tea or coffee, without sugar. Neuralgia may be cured by rubbing the part affected with a lemon. It is valuable to cure warts and to kill dandruff on the head. In fact its uses are manifold, and the more we employ it externally the better we shall find ourselves. Natural remedies are the best, and nature is our best doctor, if we would only listen to it. Decidedly, rub your hands, head, and gums with it, and drink lemonade in preference to all other liquids. Another use to which they may be put is the flavoring of strawberries. We are in the habit of eating strawberries with cream, juice of an orange, etc. Now the way to make them harmless is to cover them with a large allowance of powdered sugar, and then squeeze over them one, two or three lemons according to the quantity. The lemon juice brings out the strawberry flavor better than anything else, and its acidity is counteracted by the large quantity of sugar. The lemon juice should be in the same proportion as the cream would be in the place of which it is used.

Woolen Machinery.

The statistician makes known on the authority of good judges that a woolen mill requires thorough renewal every double decade. There are altogether nine thousand sets of woolen machinery in the country. The number worn out and replaced every year is estimated at four hundred and fifty sets. This includes thirteen hundred or more cards and spinning mules, with ten to fifteen thousand looms. The price of mules varies from seven hundred and fifty to nine hundred dollars, according to the number of spindles. To replace the mules worn out every year the sum of nearly one million two hundred and fifty thousand dollars is expended. The average durability of the machinery of a mill is about twenty years. The durability of different pieces of machinery varies. A set of cards used carefully may last half a century. The clothing on them may be renewed every five years. Looms are long lived. They may continue in use fifty years, but generally twenty years' service is about as much as they can render. The mules' average time of durability is fifteen years. A set of cards comprises generally three to four separate carding machines. In manufacturing different styles of woollens there are thirty-five or forty different processes, and nearly every process calls into use a different kind of machine.—Providence Journal.

Kendall's Spavin Cure.

The Most Successful Remedy ever discovered, as it is certain it effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER.

Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District.

ST. ALBANS, VT., Jan., 20, 1880.

DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with Kendall's Spavin Cure has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ring-bone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found. Respectfully yours, P. N. GRANGER.

Perseverance Will Tell.

STROUGHTON, MASS., March 16, 1880.

B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with Kendall's Spavin Cure, one very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there. I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me it will be very great. Respectfully yours, CHAS. E. PARKER.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach a every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous sprains, swellings, any lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for Illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.

Price $1. per bottle, six bottles for $5. ALL DRUGGISTS have it or can get it for you or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors, DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO. Enosburgh Falls, Vermont. 172d.
